

According to Philip the apostle, the Demiurge is not necessarily evil. It is rather sensual, a tempter. You only need to give it the power to be evil, through either fear or hate. Don't let it flatter you with compliments, delight and power, you'll just become lost within it- a puppet buttered up and lathered within the abyss.

The Flesh may be seen as a metonym of the Demiurge, the Creator of the materia...

Fear not the flesh nor love it. If you fear it, it will gain mastery over you. If you love it, it will swallow and paralyze you. (the Gospel of Philip) Nicholas Hall (aka Glacier Eyes)

My thirst is for gnosis. There is a place above that had no beginning and has no end where gnosis is transmitted among all who join with ever connecting wings of light. Here, in the world of forms, knowledge, such as it can be expressed, is transmitted as best it can be with words, words of wisdom. LucidusV

Those who try to lift a boulder will lift a Stone, but as they try they are tried, and when they look beneath the Boulder, they will become troubled by what they see, but it is the strife of their vision that allows them to See. <http://henosis-decanus.blogspot.com/>

[Jesus said] Those who are content to move pebbles like pieces of a board game, they will not know Me. If they looked at the board, they would see that I am all lines and no line, and it is the Breath of My Spirit that moves the pieces, not their hands. <http://henosis-decanus.blogspot.com/>

[Jesus said] Let the Movers of Mountains take Comfort and Solace in their Suffering, for only those who Suffer seek, and only those who Seek find. I am the Seeker and the Sought, and all who seek Me without find Me within. <http://henosis-decanus.blogspot.com/>

[Jesus said] I am beneath pebbles and boulders, and I am the creator of suffering and the absolver of strife. All who know Me shall become Me, and I shall become them, and We will walk in the Light together. <http://henosis-decanus.blogspot.com/>

For he who is hungry shall be filled with the Bread of Life, and she who thirsts shall be filled with the Wine of Spirit; so shall the Famished inherit the Fullness. <http://henosis-decanus.blogspot.com/>